

TEKTON

Privacy Policy

Per Peruvian General Data Protection Law (law 29733), Personal Data Protection Law, and regulations, we have developed the following privacy policy (the "Privacy Policy") to inform you how Tekton Labs will treat your gathered personal data through www.tektonlabs.com

Conservation Time

We will keep your personal information while you don't request its cancellation as the data owner.

Storage

Your personal information provided in the "Join Us" section will be stored in our bank under "People," while those provided in the "Contact Us" section or any landing of Tekton Labs will be stored in the bank under "Clients."

Data Collection Reason

We will process your personal information collected through any of our forms on our website or any of our landing pages. The personal information provided in the "Contact Us" section will be processed to manage your request and send you relevant information to your email or phone.

Information Security

We have incorporated adequate security measures to guarantee your personal information's security to avoid alteration, loss, use, or unauthorized access.

Non-disclosure Agreement

We are committed to not disclosing or sharing your information without your consent, except for the following cases (i) request for information from public authorities in the fulfillment of their obligations and within their scope; (ii) information requests on account of court orders; and (iii) requests for information on account of legal provisions.

TEKTON

Cookies

Our website uses cookies solely for it to work correctly. There is no personal information gathered. In the supposed event links or hyperlinks are redirecting to other places on the Internet on our website, property of third parties using cookies, we are not liable for their use of these third parties.

Rights

From the moment you key in your personal information onto our website and accept our Privacy Policy, you can exercise your access rights, alignment, opposition, cancellation, revocation, and other rights, by sending us a message to the following email address: info@tektonlabs.com.

Minors

By providing your personal information on our website, you state you are at least fourteen (14) years of age or a guardian for a minor to provide the appropriate consent validly. We don't voluntarily process minors' personal information unless accompanied by proper consent. If we were made aware that the information gathered belonged to a minor without the authorization of their legal guardian, we will take the necessary steps to eliminate it.

Modifications to this Privacy Policy

We have the right to modify, update, or complete the Privacy Policy at any time. It will be published immediately on our website, so you know what information is being gathered and how and under what circumstances we use and process your information.